What it is

One site for what Brooklyn needs to know, find and do.

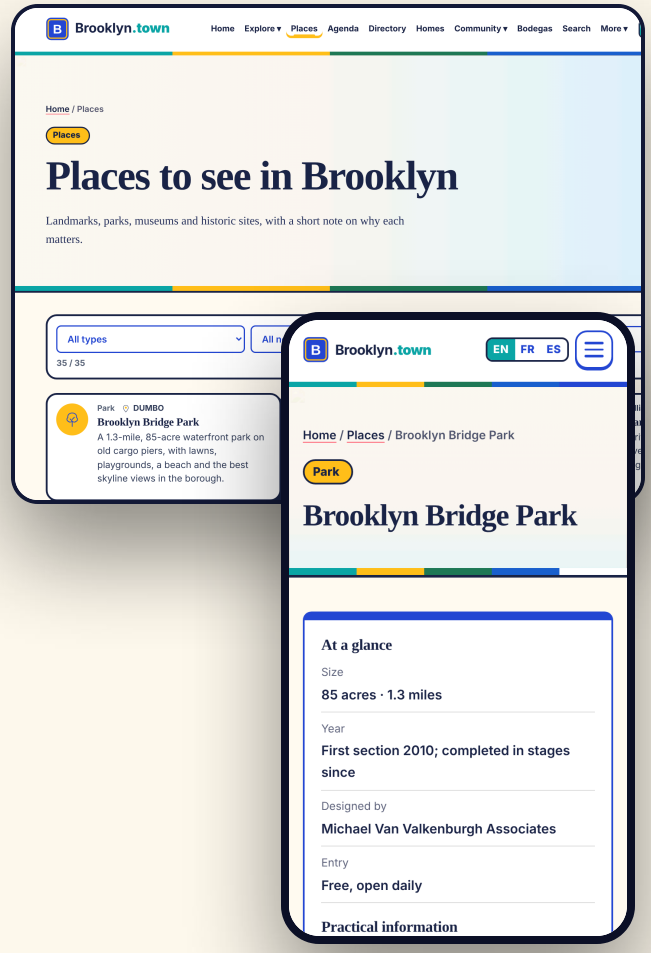

Brooklyn.town is an independent city guide and business directory. People use it to learn about a place, find a neighborhood, check what is on this week and call the right professional — in the language they speak at home.

35
places researched and written up, with facts, history and a visitor tip

3
languages on every page: English, French and Spanish

7+
neighborhood guides, from DUMBO to Coney Island

5
business sectors, each with one exclusive sponsor slot

Places & neighborhoods
Landmarks, parks, museums and historic sites, each with a short note on why it matters.

Agenda & map
What is on this week, and where it is.

Business directory
Browse by sector and neighborhood; call, WhatsApp or request a quote in one tap.

Bodega tracker
A local layer of corner stores and suppliers, built on open data.

Works like an app
Install it on a phone; key pages work offline.

Why it works

Your name next to the thing people just searched for.

A visitor reading about Brooklyn Bridge Park is already planning. A resident comparing contractors is ready to call. Sponsors and listings sit exactly there, clearly labelled, with no competitor beside you.

Three audiences, one site

Brooklyn speaks English, French and Spanish. Your offer is read in the language your customer prefers.

Exclusive spots

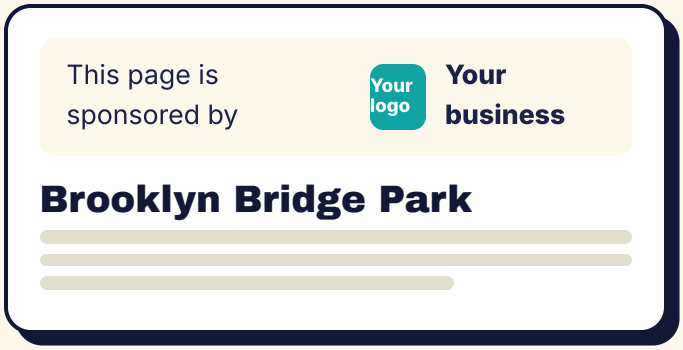

One sponsor per place page, section, banner spot or home page at a time.

Leads you can act on

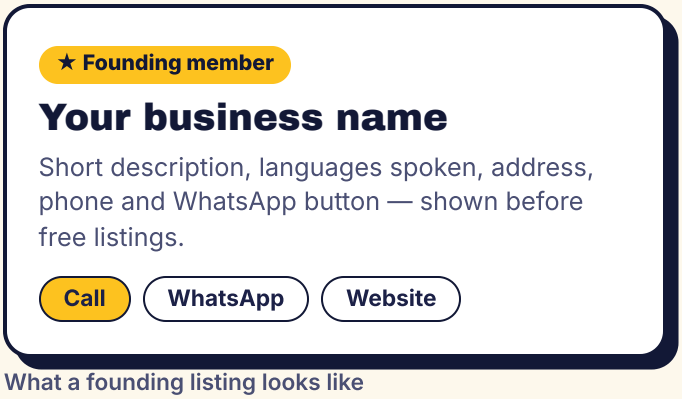

Quote requests are forwarded to the business by e-mail or WhatsApp.

Honest and clear

Every paid placement is labelled. Readers trust what they can tell apart.

What a sponsor sees on a place page

What a founding listing looks like

Made for

Real estate · Contractors & renovation · Lawyers & accountants · Restaurants & food · Clinics & health · Schools & tutoring · Movers & transport · Banks & insurance · Events & culture

Audience figures: ask us for the current media kit. We only share numbers we can show.
